Protocol extracts from the Menetekel brochures of 1956 - 1975

Theme : DNA-Information

Addenda from the Menetekel 1956 – 1975

The Medialen Friedenskreis Berlin, a Christian/Spiritual community, psychically received the texts to this theme between the years of 1956 to 1975. These transmissions are a part of the Menetekel, a collection of 4,500 A4 pages of freshly catalogued protocols, amassed over 20 years. All of these mediumistic messages were left in their original form, even if similar questions were repeated. The work of the two mediums began when they were 15 and respectively 17 years old. The total production of the MFK-Berlin (Medialer Friedenskreis Berlin), the Menetekel and the 21 transmissions from the space-brothers are considered the absolute pinnacle of psycho-scientific research. Other spiritual circles have often tried to copy the work of the MFK, but its quality was never achieved. The reproduction and distribution of these rearranged messages and protocols is explicitly encouraged and is not covered by any copyright.

Preface

Those that trawl Mother Nature exclusively with the “net” of chemical-analytical methodology will naturally only find chemical compounds. The actual living substance can only be researched by looking at the interaction of life with other life. When a human being wants to understand another creature, he must look at the related life entity next to him: Namely the spirit. He must start with what is the source of all the sciences: namely the human spirit – with himself. He must therefore delve into the psycho-sciences and base the laws of nature on them. Only a science that pursues research into the source of things stands on a solid foundation; the source of life is the same as the source of the sciences: namely the spirit.

No sensible human being would say that the shape and the functions of a house or a machine are the result of the coincidental structure of various building components. The structure is the building's components and is rather more the result of a construction plan, ergo the planned shape and functions of a house or a machine. But according to materialistically minded biologists it is supposed to be the opposite in respect to living creatures, even though they are indescribably more intricately built than any machine; form and functions are supposed to be the result of randomly developed molecular structures of chemical compounds that can be isolated through the analysis of the living substance within.

If one ignores the security the implausible theory of coincides provides – the razor sharp edge molecular biologists balance their epistemological foundation of their science on – form and function are therefore determined by the construction plan and the molecular structures are (as a means to a purpose) the result. The attempt to reduce the viable functions to physical chemical processes, taking the mechanically determined restrictions of the applied methods into consideration, represents the crossing of a theoretical, knowledge based boundary. Erwin Chargaff, who recognised the replication capability of DNA long before

Watson, Crick and Wilkins, said that “those that infringe on these boundaries turn the sciences into a goulash and are therefore just ordinary molecular biologists”. The official sciences punished this critic by giving the Nobel Prize to Watson, Crick and Wilkins in 1962 instead of him and by canonising the replication capabilities of DNA to the “genetic code” to everything.

The exploration of the realm of the spirit (By Herbert Viktor Speer)

For as long as one can avoid the truth about life after one's physical demise one will probably do so. The acceptance of the spiritual doctrine brings too many major changes with it. The greatest mental capacities and thinkers would be dethroned. This is why the things that are true, are not allowed to be true. Academic science says: “We are not against spiritualists believing in a hereafter, Church-goers do the same, but we prefer to stay out of this”. – The question is: For how much longer can academic science stay out of this? This stance is further perforated every day. University science in the USA is already severely influenced. The fact that occult secrets exist that are waiting to be unveiled can also not be ignored in the Soviet Union either. One does however guard against having such insights turn too popular.

We draw the attention of our readers to the fact that expert literature in this field of knowledge is more significant abroad than here in Germany. Editions in English are eminently informative and conclusive.

The present situation is that academic science is virtually forced to grapple with occult results. Certain insights can no longer be abnegated or ignored, because they tie in with other important research. Research into energy is presently standing on the threshold to the hereafter. One can take no further steps without crossing that threshold.

The tiniest cell is guided. Today's science already accepts that every micro-cell, every atom and all oscillations must abide by certain rules, ergo commandments. One therefore assumes that every cell must possess a receiver that receives commands and puts them into action. This process is called “INFORMATION” these days. We received some accurate data from the WORLD of SPIRIT about this INFORMATION about 10 years ago that accurately demonstrates this process. We will soon report about this without feathering our own nest. These statements stem from our spirit TEACHERS. We know, based on present day research results, that these statements are absolutely correct. They can be valuable support to the sciences.

- What has been established is that this INFORMATION within the cells must have an INFORMER, the way every radio requires a sender it can react to.

The INFORMATION can only come from the WORLD of SPIRIT; where else would the required intelligence come from? – What to call GOD or how to address HIM is left up to each individual: “INFORMER”, “LEGISLATOR” or “GOD”, it matters not. To call the INFORMER “MOTHER NATURE” is also not out of place. What is always left is an INTELLIGENCE and this is where we arrive at the right appellation, something we already find in the Bible:

- GOD is SPIRIT and the SPIRIT informs the cells.

Academic science must now deal with this insight. We will pay close attention to how the scientist will handle this without including GOD'S SPIRIT in the equation. Will they be happy to call it factor "X"? Well now, calling it "X" will not change anything anyway, it will remain an inconceivable INTELLIGENCE, one that controls the universe. We will soon publish the things they intend do in our exercise books the Menetekel. We are of the opinion that our dear readers will have learned enough to understand this.

DNA-Information

June 1967

One tries with increasing interest – particularly in the USA and Russia – to get to the bottom of what life is all about. One would like to create life in a retort according to man's will. One is aware that an information bearer exists, namely DNA (deoxyribonucleic acid). It is the compound that carries people's genetic inheritance. But what one doesn't know, and what we could only find out through our contacts with the realm of the spirit, is that the INFORMATION is not physical, that is to say, not material. Every minutest particle that can be verified or assumed is just a relay-like receptor particle that receives spiritual INFORMATION from the cosmos. A whole lexicon full of divine LAWS naturally reigns here.

- The INFORMATION is therefore not inside the DNA, but outside this acid, it is however received and processed by it. The process is a kind of micro process of the human consciousness.

The brain works in a similar fashion and it is also only a relay station designed for reception, processing and sending. The actual conscious processes, this includes sensory perceptions and feelings, take place outside of the brain. Only the interrelationship between body and spirit allows human beings to feel everything that takes place within their body.

The possibility that human beings can have an influence on DNA processes to do with heredity, based on knowledge and control, does naturally exist. But they will not be able to create life in a retort. They can only organise, change or cause mutations in an already existing life (for instance ova). The sciences must gradually learn that there is an enormous difference between spiritually viable and vegetative life! Most researchers still hold the opinion that physical matter creates consciousness. Just how large and catholic the result of this mistake is can be experienced daily.

We seriously endeavour to help the sciences in any way. But the question whether the sciences are actually willing to be helped arises here also?

- The sciences disdains the knowledge from the realm of the spirit and they forget in the process that eminent researchers and academics live there also and that they dispose over a considerably better insight into the process of Mother Nature.

We received the knowledge from the realm of the spirit that cancer is for instance a demonic mutation. Its changes to cells and its nonstop duplication is closely related to an abused DNA. Here lies the key that can open the door to this disease. One can gain an insight into the abuse of divine INFORMATION through GOD'S antagonist. Trying to create life in a retort is taking things too far.

It is of course true that the conditions in the development of our planet set elementary forces into motion that made life viable. But life at the beginning of this development was vegetative, ergo without a soul.

- Only the higher development of the nervous system and the brain made it possible for the realm of the spirit to place a soul into a physical body.

As one can neither observe the development of the human soul nor bring it under control, its existence is simply pushed aside. But apart from the importance of biological research, the existence of the soul must not be ignored. The spirit actually assists in the construction of the body. The spirit always provides the pattern. When researching and experimenting people deal with the control of heredity (genetic factors), they must be acutely aware that they are observed by the regions of the antagonist who will surely inspire them negatively unless they guard against this.

DNA-Information

November 1967

We can give the sciences only one piece of advice: The INFORMATION is a spiritual factor, that is to say, the INFORMATION within cells and molecules is absolutely non-physical. Genetic cells, chromosomes etc. are indeed physical, but they would be lifeless if they would not receive their spiritual vitalisation through spiritual INFORMATION.

One naturally believes that one can find out how cells behave by mixing them or by taking their impulses away. One assumes that the INFORMATION (DNA) actually represents the ENERGY that animates life, ergo animates matter. It is indeed a FORCE, an ENERGY, but it is not produced by the cells the way a generator produces electricity. The ENERGY is present in the universe. It is not of an electrical or magnetic nature. The cells with their DNA (deoxyribonucleic acid) can pick up this energy, that is to say, it accepts life. This energy is found in the INFORMATION and like a major PROGRAM, it contributes to the behaviourism of the cells.

Scientists would triumph beyond belief if the reverse was true, ergo that each cell produces its own life force and its own program, they would then have achieved something they have strived for, for millennia, namely the scientific evidence that GOD does not exist. Conclusion: If there is no GOD one does not have to give account for one's thoughts and actions to a HIGHER BEING, there would be no immortality and no independent soul. The path the sciences take is an endless one, because it leads down many blind alleys. At least one of the major blind alleys would be eliminated if the sciences would accept the spiritual evidence.

To think that it is the Churches' task to furnish spiritual evidence is making a great mistake. Church representatives are not in a position to do so, because such evidence would not fit into their dogmatic structure at all. There is no difference between them and university scientists in this respect. The Fathers of the Church fear an enormous loss of prestige, particularly if they had to admit that spiritualism's insights tower way over that of all other religions.

University scientists fear a similar loss of prestige. They therefore continuously encourage one another to do everything they can to find a way to force occultism or spiritualism to its knees. The sciences use unfair means to avoid any loss of prestige, because the title of doctor is highly lauded and the people are supposed to bow low.

Any research into this INFORMATION will assert a claim on people's time for some time. One can rather assume that the insights gained by spiritualism will enter pertinent circles quicker and more permanently. One cannot imagine how enormously important this field of knowledge is, because all the terrestrial problems of human cohabitation are related to it.

- Every war is the absolute consequence of unequalled ignorance in respect to the life of the human soul and its continuous existence on the ANOTHER SIDE.

If the powerful on this Earth would know the objective truth the shock they would receive would be indescribable. They have no idea about what they will be faced with after their demise. They hold the opinion that one is only trying to scare them. These are not scare tactics, but a natural science based insight universities gutlessly avoid. One can therefore come to the conclusion that universities will also have to bear full responsibility for all genocides.

DNA-Information

February 1968

To assume that physical matter undertakes anything of its own accord is wrong. All movement, that of atoms also, is spiritually controlled, respectively controlled through divine LAWS. It is also wrong to believe that organised matter produces intelligence.

- Intelligence is an intangible process. Intelligence is situated outside of physical matter and it is only in contact with it.

When talk turns to this INFORMATION one finds that this phenomenon is closely related to telepathy. The real INFORMATION within physical matter is telepathy based on programming, that is to say, without consciousness. This programming controls behaviourism. We can clearly recognise this within the human body, namely that control also exists without consciousness, this includes breathing and the activity of the heart.

- This divine INFORMATION does not require a language for its commands. It is conceptual and it is performed through IMPULSES, respectively through mental VIBRATIONS. The human consciousness is found in the cosmos and certainly not within physical matter.

People are however duped by bodacious functions so that they believe that their thoughts and feelings are in the brain. A telecast is also not in the receiver, ergo the television set, but takes place miles away. One is aware of this process and this leads to different observations. If every human being would accurately know the process of consciousness, they would see themselves in a different light. The following rule-of-thumb must gain entrance into all university sciences. This rule-of-thumb gives the sciences access to an enormous field of knowledge, one that is worthwhile to explore.

- Consciousness belongs to the soul and not the body! – The physical body is only a kind of consciousness receptor.

The power of this INFORMATION becomes apparent when one takes suggestion into consideration. The will of one person is transferred to another person here without physical contact being required. Language alone triggers this phenomenon. Suggestions have been sent across more than 1,000km in the Soviet Union, these suggestions were on a mental level only. These experiments provide sufficient evidence that man's spirit is intangible. We are not dealing with nuclear, ergo atomic shifts here.

To think that the thought process takes place in the brain is a false concept. It is therefore not necessary for the consciousness, with all its memories, to exit the body after death, respectively at the exodus. All that happens is a separation from the physical body, from matter. The actual exodus is only performed by the ASTRAL BODY. No changes take place within one's consciousness. It remains where it has always been. Death is therefore not as problematic as one has assumed up to now and one unfortunately still assumes. Death itself is extraordinarily simple, it is simply a deactivation of a function, one that separates the body from the spirit. The body is completely independent at this moment in time, it now only consists of physical matter and it is subject to the laws of nature; it cannot do anything else. But the spirit of the person is absolutely independent from this moment in time and it is now only subject to the LAWS of the SPIRIT. There are exception in spiritism, the ENERGY of a living person is utilised by one or a number of spirits so that matter can be influenced to some degree.

The INFORMER (GOD) does not have to repeat all his ORDERS all the time in order to animate the universe. There are divine PROGRAMS that stand for eternity and that can be complemented and improved on, on a continuous basis.

- When there is talk about INFORMATION there must also be talk about an INFORMER. Logic demands this!

DNA-Information

February 1969

We already mentioned the existence of divine INFORMATION many years ago. The sciences have in the meantime, independently from our publications, gained deeper insights in the processes of this INFORMATION. One is intensively engaged in researching genetic processes, respectively in hereditary materials detected in the DNA of a certain acid. One believes to be on the trail of the origin of life. This research is indeed a masterpiece within the sciences. The layman cannot make sense of the results at all. One talks about the information within molecules these days as a matter of course, respectively talks about a code of a chemical nature, namely deoxyribonucleic acid (DNA or DNS)¹. We also showed an interest in these research results. What particularly caught our eyes is the circumstance that:

- One does indeed talk about an "INFORMATION", but never about an INFORMER! An INFORMER does apparently not exist for the sciences.

We can recognise by this how much one shies away from accepting an INFORMER, because one would then have to admit that such an INFORMER could only be correctly called by the word "GOD". One is rather more inclined to call this "GOD" a "process"; because there is a lot more to the word "GOD", actually too much for the sciences, namely: Accounting for one's deeds and thoughts, responsibility, karma, indemnification (atonement) – concepts the sciences prefer not acknowledge. We can clearly observe this behaviourism in all DNA research. One moves on purely atheistic paths and one is not easily swayed from them. This is to the detriment of all terrestrial human beings! One will indeed gain real insights one day, but just when this will happen cannot be foreseen.

- This makes mankind lose a lot of time in their actual development.

Mankind does not just have this Earth at its disposal, but an incredibly vast and catholic universe. We heard from our spirit TEACHERS that terrestrial people find it very difficult to leave planet Earth, because they lack the required refinement. People therefore continuously return to this planet. They cannot achieve HIGHER LEVELS of development and lag behind other human races on other planets.

- Higher development, particularly in the spiritual sector, would make it possible for terrestrial human beings to be reincarnated on higher developed planets. Such reincarnations would provide them with paradisiacal conditions.

The opposite is unfortunately the case, because the spiritual development of this human race lags further and further behind. One has undeniably distanced oneself from the Middle Ages, but accepted some completely nonsensical and ungodly thoughts instead. This human race lacks its own criticism! The fact that the masses swallow the greatest nonsense without becoming incensed, is quite incredible.

- But to assume and to accept as common place that incredibly complicated INFORMATION cannot be traced back to an INFORMER, is the height of dullness!

This concerns us even more so, because research into DNA really represents a scientific masterly achievement. What has the CREATOR done to deserve to be ignored and to have HIS existence so absolutely disowned?

- The End -
