Our reader Irmgard Oberste-Berghaus drew our attention to the layer on of hands Miroslav Kaczenski. She had often made the trip to Elmshorn to have this healer lay his hand upon her person. To our question of how many diets Mrs. Berghaus had tried before, she answered: “Every known diet, I don’t think that I missed one! It isn’t a case where I already fit into a size 38, this is just the beginning. I still have 10kg to go, but I know that they will also disappear.”

Television also took an interest in the fat-removal specialist. The 40 year old, born in Danzig, says that he inherited his abilities from his Father. If he places his hands on the stomach of someone for about a quarter of an hour, this person’s sensation of feeling hungry disappears and this person will only eat half of the usual portions at the most.

The 24 year old housewife Daniela Ost has for instance lost 45 pounds. Christel Fehrs from Elmshorn lost 53 pounds since April this year and this brought her very close to her ideal weight. It seems that the pounds just melt away from a lot of women that tried various diets, just like Mrs. Oberste-Berghaus.

One treatment costs DM 30.00.

Miroslav Kaczenski has been treating patients at his parents home for 7 years. There is a whole litany of things that take place at Kaczenski’s:

The 39 year old Anke Jost lost 30kg to the astonishment of her circle of friends. All of them asked her whether she had discovered a miracle diet. She lost the 30kg over a period of six months by having the healer place his hands on her once a week.

Robert Sebastian, the author of the book “The fountain of youth secret. In 7 steps 10 years younger” (Das Jungbrunnengeheimnis – in 7 Schritten 10 Jahre jünger), published by the Herbig Publishing Company, asked the healer Kaczenski in his book how he explains his wondrous abilities? Kaczenski said: “I cannot explain it. This is obviously a gift from God I can use to heal people with. I have also been working as a naturopath for years.” There is also the fact that people lose weight where they want to lose it. It depends on where he places his hands.

Medical School practitioner Dr. med. Andreas-Hans Wasylewski, in charge of the Yvas-Day Clinic for biomedicine in Ravensburg, Wuertemberg is sure that an ENERGY TRANSFER to the patient takes place. This would activate the patient’s harmony and speed up the metabolism. Fat cells could certainly be broken down in this way. According to his assessment, we are not dealing with purely placebo-effects here.

The journal “The other reality” reported quite often about the different, successful treatment methods of naturopaths. A placebo-effect could assertively be ruled out with a number of them. Particularly with patients that were not aware that they were actually receiving treatment.

One can naturally not necessarily exclude a placebo-effect in regards to a lot of patients that are asking to be treated by a healer. This doesn’t really matter. It’s the result that counts after all. The placebo-effect can also not be excluded when seeing a doctor, particularly when the patient holds the white garb in high esteem. It is a strange fact that a lot of patients with toothaches no longer feel any pain the moment they enter the treatment room of a dentist.

A lot of things would surely have to be investigated in this way – but there are hardly any initiatives to do so. After all, one cannot sell psychic healing like a pill. As the pharmaceutical industry is very powerful, papers and journals naturally think twice about whether they can do without such advertisements.

Other factors also play a part – because a lot of healers exclusively work for themselves and their own livelihood. There doesn’t seem to be an overriding reason to do anything about it and this is why it has been neglected to establish a lobby group, something that could certainly have been in the realm of possibilities a few years ago.

Those that want to talk to Miroslav Kaczenski can reach him via the above mentioned telephone numbers.
